

Five unforgettable hotel bathtubs

By Cynthia Rosenfeld, CNNGo

November 8, 2010 -- Updated 1243 GMT (2043 HKT)

Enjoy the priceless view as you soak in this bathtub at the Huvafen Fushi resort in the Maldives.

STORY HIGHLIGHTS

- Many hotels differentiate themselves with bathtubs that offer stunning views
- Hand-beaten copper tub in Bali, Indonesia, resort lets bathers stare at Mount Batu Kau
- Granite bath in Tokyo, Japan, hotel has steam-proof TV and city views
- Check out other great destinations and travel tips at Five To Go

(CNNGo) -- Bathing can be so much more than a mindless chore. Travelers looking to clean up will find that blowing bubbles in these tubs is definitely not kid's stuff.

Lagoon Bungalows, Huvafen Fushi (Maldives)

From this Indian Ocean-facing basin built for two, above, you can see schools of flying fish and the occasional snorkeler break the surface. Guests also have the opportunity to dunk with resident baby sharks and sting rays (body parts are of of no interest to these tuna-eating flesh seekers).

Price: $1,400 per night Website: Huvafen Fushi